

Lior Laver

A specialist in sports medicine and hip preservation. He studied for his subspecialization in sports medicine with the Barcelona football club's orthopedist.

He later carried out clinical research in his subspecialization of sports medicine at Duke University in the USA, completed his residency at the world's leading and most advanced centers for hip and knee preservation in England, and worked as a doctor for sports teams in the leading clubs in Israel and overseas.